Shall We Not Blow Our Horn?

West Virginia is too modest. While she waits for the world to discover where she is what she is, and what she is destined to be, other States less favorably situated, with less to boast of, are pushing themselves to the front in the hope of attracting capia

The Charleston News and Courier laments the same inviting spirit of modesty in its own State, and compares South Carolina's easy-going way to blow-bard Georgia which lets nothing get away that she can hold up for the world to see. "The State," says the News and Courier"to be prosperou must do as thrifty merchants do tise." The Western States long ago learned the art of attracting attention. Bureaus statistics, bureaus of immigration-unde whatever name bureaus to advertise the State, setting forth its resources and inviting whomsoever will to come and lend a han-

West Virginia is without these aids to progress. We had a Commissioner of In igration, but the office sickened and die for want of support. We have no Bureau of Statistics and no statistics, no Agricultural Bureau or Board as some of the Western and Southern States have. But we have here a fair young State, almost virgin for the prospector. In nearly 25,000 square miles we have a various climate four of our Ohio river counties are north of Pennsylvania's southern boundary-as much northern as a fourth of Pennsyvania from the Ohio to the Delaware. Wheeling and Philadelphia are on the same paralle of latitude. We are west of Maryland, south of it and east of ir. We reach farther south than the most northerly counties of Ken-

We have lands for every description of farming. Nature has endowed us with the oest sheep ranges in the country-pasture shelter and abundant good water. Cattle thrive and their owners make money. Our resources of timber and minerals are beginning to be talked of, but the half has not been told. We are near Eastern and Western markets, and have good water ways We have unsurpassed facilities for manufacturing. We need more railroads, more money, more people, more push. Lands are cheap, fortunes above the surface and below, like bread buttered on both sides. By the census of 1880, 618,000 people occupied this land of pleuty, not enough to work it for any considerable part of what

We made a good impression at the Centehnial exhibition. If we had followed up that hit with energy and perseverance we by this time. More people would have brought more railroads, more railroads more people. When the next Legislature meets perhaps it can be induced to move -to do something handsome toward acvertising the State. In the meantime we something to show the comirg Legislature that we are in earnest. This summer Louisville holds an exhibition-West Virginia ought to be there with samples of her work. Next fall the New Englan-Maufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute holds an exhibition in Boston-West Vir ginia ought to be there in a full display We are invited to both, and each afford us a profitable opportunity for all that we

If we make up our minds that no goo chance shall escape us, we shall wake some fine day and find our State booming. But we must tell the world we are here.

The 26th of this month will be celebrated with elaborate and appropriate ceremonies in Italy. It is the 400th anniversary of the birth of Raphael-to conclude with a grand ball in the Capitol at Rome.

A Pettis county, Mo., woman is the mother of fifteen girls, all living. When they all march home from church Sunday nights, accompanied by their beaux, the procession is picturesque and palpitating.

There is an alarming increase of lawyers in England. One hundred years ago there were a few less than 300, and at the beginning of the present century there were be tween 600 and 700. Now there are nearly is set before her. The latest craze among the ladies is a "hair album"-zentlemen's hair. Young men are besought for a lock of hair, an the request is such a flattering one that they are only too happy to comply when the right damsels apply.

An American weman who can go to Canada and return without smuggling something which she doesn't want and which she could have bought 25 per cent cheaper in this country, would be a remarkable woman indeed.

CLARKSBURG NOIES. he March of Improvement - 4 new Co

CLARKSBURG, March 16.—Improvements, here and there, are still going on. Mr. R. Lowndes has erected at the west end a saw mill with sufficient fixtures, steam power, &c., to "saw up" verything that he can catch floating down the West Fork river. It is said he has purchased and has intransite 10,000 saw logs, up the river and its tributaries; and that he has from two to three times that many more still in the trees in the adjacent forests.

Ground has been broken, on a splendistic, for the erection of another college, President P. B. Reynolds, late of Shelton college, backed by sufficient parties, has undertaken the enterprise. It is to be a college for boys and young men. There is aiready a femals college here that is meeting with great success.

General Goff's new residence is not yet completed. They say the General is very particular about the work, even to the small completed. They say the total content attention to the smallest detail. He is at home giving close and constant attention to his private affairs. He is now a veritable Congressman, and within the two years to come, will be the target for more hot shot and shell from Democratic batteries than, perhaps, any other man in the lower house. I believe he is the only excabinet officer elected to the present House. General Northcott is a Squire now. The County Court recently prevailed upon him to accept an appointment to fill a vacancy. They say the General can add a $1,000 a year to his exchequer and run his farming besides.

year to his exchequer and run his arming besides.

I see the Register of yesterday, through a correspondent from this place, gives the Hon. John J. Davis' views upon what that paper calls the "Dynamite Amendment." Knowing whereof I speak, I may say to your readers that those views of Mr. Davis are not new with him. He held the same opinions away back in 1872 3, when the Register held to the very opposite. Mr. Davis is quoted here as saying that he has not time just now to write out an opinion upon the "grave question" raised by the 'Register for publication in that paper, but he is pleased to see the Register has veered around to the right side of that question at last. His views were fully communicated. last.
